SECTION C: CHOICE EXPERIMENT

Description:

- In the next section, you will see hypothetical choice scenarios about buying cigarette packs for yourself. The only difference between the scenarios is the price of the cigarette products
- Each scenario will present you with 3 different tobacco products that you may purchase:
 1. Local brand of cigarettes like Cedars or Byblos
 2. Foreign brand of cigarettes like Marlboro, Davidoff or Gitanes
- Each of the 2 cigarette packs will have its own price, and the combination of prices change in each scenario.
- You will be asked to imagine yourself buying your needs of cigarettes as you would typically in real life and tell us how many items you would buy of each of the 2 products on offer.
- You may choose to buy 1 or more items from some types and none (i.e. 0) from others. You may choose to buy nothing at all, in which case the answer will be 0 for each of the 2 products.
- Please seriously consider the prices (in fresh USD) at which each item is being offered when making your decision about the quantities. Make sure that the sum you spend on these products is in line with your budget for buying cigarettes. Also, keep in mind that the money you spend on cigarettes will not be available for you to spend on other things.
- Here is an example of a choice scenario:

Think about the amount of cigarette packs you would purchase, based on the following prices:

	Local brand	Foreign brand
	Pack of 20	Pack of 20
Price	$0.60 (LBP 55,000)	$2.00 (LBP 180,000)
Quantity	__	__

Now I leave you to complete the choice scenarios. [INTERVIEWER: LEAVE THE PARTICIPANT TO FILL IN THE CHOICE SETS]
